Second Chapter of the Summer Meeting.

SIX EVENTS ON THE PROGRAM

Gentleman's Driving Race and Contest for Criterion Cup the Main Attractions.

PROBABLE WINNERS.

- No. 1—Amethyst.
- No. 2—Nettie H.
- No. 3—Virgie A.
- No. 4—General Cronje.
- No. 5—W. W. Wood.
- No. 6—Weller.

Racing under the auspices of the Hawaiian Jockey Club will be resumed at Kapiolani Park this afternoon. The flag will fall in the first race at 1:30 o'clock.

There are six races on the card, all of which promise to furnish interesting sport. The features of the afternoon are the gentlemen's driving race and the contest for the Criterion cup, run over a mile and a half of ground, in which the invincible Weller is a certain starter.

The events and entries are as follows:

1. Half-mile dash, Hawaiian bred; purse $100. Galety Girl, b. m.; Amethyst, b. m.; Albert, b. h. b.
2. Merchants' Purse, 3:00 class, trotting and pacing, best two heats in three; sweepstake, clubs adds $100. Nettie H, br. m.; Edna G, b. m.; Arie W, b. g.
3. Five furlongs dash, free for all; purse $100. Galety Girl, b. m.; Eileen, c. f.; Virgie A, blk. m.; Watosa, c. g.; Racery, b. m.; Garterline, b. m.; Venus, b. m.
4. One mile dash, free for all; purse $150. General Cronje, b. g.; Aggravation, b. m.

Gentlemen's driving race, one mile heat, free for all, amateur drivers, open to members of the Hawaiian Jockey Club; cup value $50. Los Angeles, b. g.; Luster, b. g.; Walter P, b. g.; Wait-a-Little, br. g.; W. W. Wood, b. g.

6. Criterion Cup, one and one-half miles dash, free for all; purse $200, to be won twice by the same stable. Billy McCloskey, c. h.; Lady Amanda, b. m.; Weller, c. h.

In the first race AMETHYST, which was left at the post on Tuesday, should finish first.

NETTIE H has Edna G to beat in the second, and should do it.

The five furlongs dash will be fought out by Virgie A, Watosa, Racery and Garterline. Watosa run badly on Tuesday and Garterline will hardly be at her best after her fall. Racery would relish an extra furlong. VIRGIE A should recompense those who backed her on Tuesday, by winning.

GENERAL CRONJE, which is a wonderfully improved horse, should defeat Aggravation in the fourth.

The gentlemen's driving race looks good for W. W. WOOD, if Prince David drives.

WELLER will have a walkover for the Criterion Cup.

SINCLAIR WON THE GOLD MEDAL

KNOWN IN HONOLULU.

Richard Clayton of the Transport Sheridan, in Trouble.

Richard Clayton, the absconding clerk to Quartermaster Captain Miles of the transport Sheridan, who disappeared last Saturday with $1,000 of the ship's funds, was arrested late yesterday afternoon by Secret Service Agent George Hazen. He was found stupidly drunk in the house of a friend on Castro street.

After being taken to the City Prison Clayton begged Desk Sergeant Melody to give him a drink.

"Please see that I get a drink of whisky," he piteously pleaded, as tears coursed down his cheeks. "To be locked up without being given some liquor means that I will never be able to appear in court to defend the charge that has been placed against me."

Clayton's request for whisky fell upon deaf ears, and without much ceremony he was thrown into a cell.

"I did not steal the funds of the transport," he declared later to a reporter. "However, says I did, lies. I don't care to discuss the matter now, but when the case is heard in court I will be able to show that I am innocent of any wrongdoing."

"Since I left the transport I have been on a spree and did not know the authorities were looking for me. Had I known that they were searching for me I would have lost no time in surrendering myself."

Despite Clayton's statement the federal authorities claim that they have a clear case against him. When he left the transport he was accompanied by F. L. O'Neil, who acted as his assistant during the last trip of the Sheridan. They rented a room in a lodging house on Third street, but slept there only one night. Clayton says he became so drunk that he forgot where he roomed, and, after wandering about the city "drinking his head off," as he expressed it, he went to the house on Castro street where he was arrested.

MISS HAZLETT A BRIDE.

She is Married at Oakland to Wm. H. Bailey.

OAKLAND, May 30.—The residence of William H. Bailey, at 1369 Jackson street, was the scene of a quiet wedding last evening, in which the contracting parties were William H. Bailey, Jr., and Miss Margaret Lee Hazlett, of Los Angeles. Rev. J. K. McLean officiated at the ceremony. The wedding was strictly a home affair, and was attended by the parents of the bride and groom and members of their families.

Following the ceremony there was a wedding supper and reception, the bride and groom receiving the usual congratulations and good wishes. The bride has, for the last two years, been a resident of Los Angeles, but prior to her residence in the South, her home was in Oakland. Mr. Bailey is a graduate of the State University, and has recently been engaged in business in San Diego. After a short wedding journey the couple will return to San Diego, where they will make their home. Those present at the wedding were: W. H. Bailey and wife, Edward Bailey, Mrs. Hazlett, C. Hazlett, Mrs. Donzell Storey, T. W. Hoborn, of Honolulu, Mrs. J. C. Bailey, Charles C. Bailey and Dr. McLean.

W. H. Bailey is well known in the islands, having been connected with Walluku plantation.

CAME TO WED AN ISLANDER

Peking Brought the Story of a Romance Culminating Here.

One of the prettiest of little love romances was unfolded before the eyes of the passengers on the City of Peking on the voyage from San Francisco to Honolulu, which in a day or two will terminate in the union of two young hearts that have been separated by thousands of miles of ocean, continent and oceans again, for four years. A young woman, whose name upon the passenger list was Miss Maria Lutz, was the heroine, and by the time she arrived in Honolulu harbor she had won the hearts of all by her simplicity of manner and her eagerness to meet her fiancé, who is a chemist on a plantation near Lahaina.

The young woman came from Wurtemberg, Germany, where her father is a jurist of note. From Wurtemberg she set out alone upon her long journey to these islands. First by rail and then by steamer across the Atlantic to New York; thence across the continent to San Francisco, and lastly this way upon the Peking. When the vessel anchored outside the harbor yesterday morning at 1 o'clock, the little woman's heart sank. She was grieved and upon deck the whole evening, feverish in her desire to reach the dock. Her disappointment was keen.

Finally, when a shore-boat and a launch lapped up and down on the billows, she clapped her hands in high glee, saying that her fiancé was surely in one of the boats, and had come all the way out from shore to meet her. Again she was doomed to disappointment, and finally even she was overcome by sleep. She was the first passenger on deck yesterday morning, and as the vessel shoved its nose toward the dock, she ran down to the bow to catch a glimpse of her intended. She sighed as she scanned the faces of those below, for he was not of them. Suddenly a white handkerchief fluttered from a hack which was being driven rapidly toward the dock, and in an instant the two had recognized one another. Hardly had the gang-plank been adjusted when Miss Lutz tripped gaily and lightly down it and into the arms of her fiancé.

The rest of the pretty romance will be told in the German Lutheran Church, which was dedicated only last Sunday, and where the two will be made man and wife, the first couple to be married from the pretty edifice.
